

About the university:

The University of Navarra is a Catholic University founded in 1952 on strong core values. It has been ranked 61st by the QS Graduate Employability Ranking and 1st within the Spanish universities. Times Higher Education 2019 has ranked University of Navarra best University in Spain and 3rd in Europe (Europe Teaching Ranking).

The University has several Campuses, the IESE Business School in Madrid, Barcelona, Munich and New York, the main university campus in Pamplona, with 17 Faculties and Schools (including University of Navarra Hospital, the CIMA Medical Research Center, and the University Museum), and Tecnun and its affiliated Research Centre CEIT sharing facilities in two different campuses, both in the city of San Sebastian, at the Spanish Northern coastline, next to France.

TECNUN is also ranked as the 1st Engineering School in Spain within the non-state-funded Universities, and 5th in the global national ranking, according to the Spanish ranking of reference "El Mundo".

TECNUN offers bilingual degrees (Spanish/English) in the Bch/Ms model (4+1.5)

The current Tecnun academic offer is:

- Undergraduate Degrees:
  - Engineering in Industrial Technologies
  - Mechanical Engineering
  - Electrical Engineering
  - Industrial Electronics Engineering
  - Telecommunications Systems Engineering
